

Description

South Africa is showing improvements in battling the spread of covid-19. Health Minister Zweli Mkhize says the country's current covid-19 trend of recording less cases shows that we are in an encouraging situation. Mkhize noted that we shouldn't rule out the possibility of a second wave and that it is still up to citizens to act responsible to prevent a second wave from happening. We now welcome Professor Bertrum Fielding - Director and lead researcher at the Molecular Biology and Virology Research Lab at UWC to discuss this further

<https://soundcloud.com/radio-786-100-4fm/despite-sas-covid-19-trends-being-encouraging-the-numbers-could-be-higher-radio-786>